Viceroy Bali

Part of uber luxe Small Luxury Hotels of the World group, Viceroy Bali, leaves no stone unturned when it comes to an elegant escape. For supreme privacy and space the 400sqm two bedroom Viceroy Villa with private pool (otherwise known as the Presidential Villa) is the ultimate couples retreat.

The other four villas are equally plush, albeit on a smaller scale, and come with high-thatched roofs, central dining areas and vast marble bathrooms. A Yoga Master is on standby for private yoga sessions while Lembah Spa therapists combine Swiss and Balinese therapies. Viceroy's most impressive indulgence is an infinity swimming pool and swim up bar perched on the cliff face offering stunning valley views.

Sandat Glamping

With three quirky yet romantic accommodation styles to choose from, Secret Retreat's Sandat Glamping (as in glamorous camping) offers luxury camping Indonesian style. Poolside two-storey Lumbungs (Luxury Rice Barns) were traditionally used as rice warehouses and are plushly decked out with hand-carved timber furnishings.

Luxury Tents with canvas and glass walls are spread across lush gardens, each with their own pool and fitted out with romantic bamboo canopy beds draped with muslin nets. Balinese and Italian artefacts and cabinetry add a touch of non-camping glamour. Larger Suite Tents are dominated by a larger-than-life circular bed centre-stage while a glitzy bathroom chandelier screams 'look at me'.

Hanging Gardens of Bali

This luxurious Ubud hotel is a hands-down winner thanks to architecturally magnificent multi-level cascading swimming pools that appear to be suspended in mid-air above lush jungle.

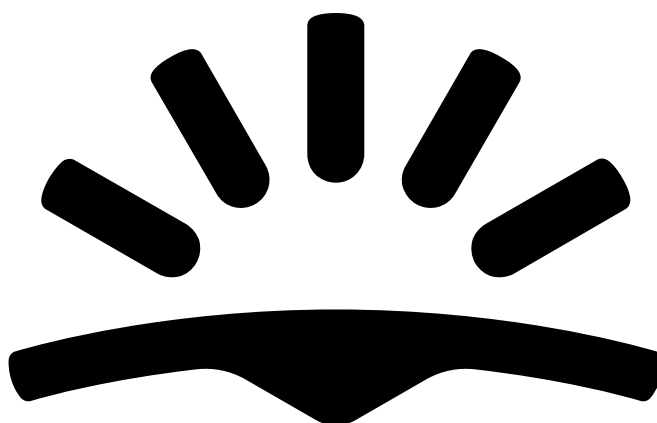

Perched cliffside and surrounded by rice terraces and wild forests, a funicular transports guests up and down the steep landscaped ravine. Sophisticated suites and villas, each with their own granite infinity pool, overlook the Ayung River and ancient Dalem Segara temple. Hanging Gardens provides a serenely romantic holiday hangout favoured by discerning travellers seeking an elegant hotel, fine dining and decadent pampering at Ayung Spa.

Komaneka at Bisma

Like many luxury Ubud hotels, Komaneka at Bisma has a standout infinity edge swimming pool. What we like about Komaneka is that, at 33m long, it's actually designed for swimming laps in – great for exercise junkies! However, if lazily lounging on a sunbed with a cocktail in hand is more your style, there's plenty of opportunities to do just that too. Selected villas and suites come with their own pool – VIPs' favour the three bedroom pavilion-style Bisma Residence for its secluded, sophisticated luxury in the tree tops.

Quiet and private, Komaneka at Bisma is the new kid on the Ubud block where trendy boutique hotels and exciting new restaurants sprout from terraced rice fields.

Perfect for small groups or families with children, there's entertainment rooms, a gym, yoga terrace, children's playground along with living, playing and dining spaces aplenty. Naturally, there's a team of highly-trained staff on hand to cater to your every need. Checking into Villa San is a little like having your own exclusive holiday home without all the pesky obligations (and bills!) of ownership.

Four Seasons Resort Bali at Sayan

A perennial high-achiever with regular red carpet appearances on Best Hotel & Resort lists, Four Seasons at Sayan is a luxurious Ubud sanctuary cocooned in the enchanting Ayung Valley. A romantic haven channeling peace and tranquillity in abundance, yoga and meditation classes are popular with stressed guests looking to unwind and relax in tropical serenity.

An in-house Wellness Mentor is on hand to help guests discover mindfulness at the Sacred River Spa, the spiritual heart of Sayan. If that doesn't float your boat, other activities like cooking classes or insightful Balines cultural and architecture tours are available. Alternatively, you could simply do nothing but laze away in a sun lounge while ticking off some of the thousand-odd bird species that inhabit the valley.
